A Place in Havana Cuba

Assignment # 7 “Putting it all together”

Now is the time to design/redesign/revise the final design. This is in two parts, this assignment and the final assignment for presentation. (There is always design happening, even while doing the final presentation.)

It seems that now we should go back to the 1:250 scale (the scale of the final model and main part of the presentation) and adjust the final design. For this part the best media are drawings of plans, section, elevations... since a model will be built for the final presentation. Of course you may want to start by looking at 1:500 or parts at 1:100.

The idea is to include all the ideas from the assignments into one final design.

For Thursday, April 29 have sketch plans, sections.... ready to fix the final design.
