

An Example Stratigraphic Column

Notes:

- Your units should be colored to match you map and cross sections
- You do not need to assign dates to your units, but you need to have relative ages correct (oldest unit on bottom)
- If two units are the same age, you can place them next to each other, or make a note that they are the same age or that is impossible to determine which came first
- Denote an unconformity with a wavy line between units (as seen above in at least three places)
