

This week's assignment is to machine a self-inverting top, with your name engraved on it. An example of an object that acts as a self-inverting top is a brass rat (MIT class ring):

You have to spin it just right (with the narrowest part of the band as the pivot), but it does work.